

THE MOTION

This Club Believes that

Migrants to Bengaluru have the right to reshape the city's culture, rather than merely adapt to it

MARK WHERE YOU STAND, NOW AND ON THE WAY OUT    ADAPT TO IT   ☐   ☐   ☐   ☒   ☐   ☐   ☐   RESHAPE IT

WHAT THE WORDS MEAN

MIGRANTS

Anyone who moved here and lives here now, from another state or another country, last year or thirty years ago. Not a legal category, and not about any one region.

THE CITY'S CULTURE

The lived, shared things: the language on the street and in shops, food, festivals, how neighbours behave, and what the city expects of people in it. Not official policy.

THE RIGHT TO RESHAPE

To change what the culture is: what you bring to it, what you decline to take up, and what you expect of the people already here. The motion covers all three. Who has the right, not what will happen.

THE REAL DISAGREEMENT

BOTH SIDES AGREE

Someone who moves here can go years without the language or the local norms and get by, because the people here are tolerant and willing to adapt. No one is arguing that the local language and customs should go.

THEY SPLIT ON

How far should the city move towards the languages and festivals migrants bring, and how far should migrants move towards what is already here?

WHERE EACH SIDE STARTS

FOR THE MOTION

A city's culture is a living thing, made by the people living in it, not a fixed inheritance. Someone who moves in can influence it and respect what is already here at the same time.

AGAINST

Tolerance has a limit, and it is not giving up your own language. People here are within their rights to insist on their language and norms, on signboards and in what the city celebrates.

TAKING THE FLOOR

- 1 Write it down before you raise your hand. If it does not fit in one sentence, it is not ready.
- 2 One question at a time, put to the room and not to one person. If you have several, pick the best.
- 3 Sharp and specific. The best questions are not opinions in disguise. They are ones the other side has to answer.
- 4 No anecdotes. We are stress-testing arguments, not swapping experiences. If it opens with "I once knew someone who", hold it.
- 5 A warning at sixty seconds, a hard cutoff at ninety. The buzzer is not a suggestion.

WRITE IT DOWN FIRST

Draft while you listen. One sentence each, and if it does not fit on the line it is not ready.

THE ONE YOU WILL ASK

Pick the best of them. One question, put to the room.
